

National Outsourcing Association elects new 2015 Council to help define the strategic focus of the UK outsourcing industry

Representatives from the BBC, Capita, IBM, EE and Unilever all included in the newly elected NOA Council.

The membership of the National Outsourcing Association (NOA) has elected its new Council, the body that advises the NOA and contributes strategies which are tactically implemented by the NOA executive body.

The NOA Council is voted in by the NOA membership, comprising of 350+ companies across a variety of industries. Each individual has been elected off the back of a proposed manifesto, in which they outlined their objectives and vision for outsourcing in the UK in 2015.

The Council of volunteers is comprised of roles spanning the entire breadth of the outsourcing industry, including buyers, suppliers, advisors and consultants of outsourcing.

Kerry Hallard, CEO of the NOA, said “I am delighted with the strength and experience that this year’s Council will bring to the NOA. This newly appointed team will be integral to helping us deliver the NOA’s strategy, which in turn should serve to professionalise the outsourcing industry and upskill many of those who work within it.

“I would also like to take this opportunity to thank our outgoing Council. They made many valuable contributions in 2014, and have set a high bar for the Council this year!”
